Col. Benton's History.

We are in the receipt of Col. Benton's Thirty Years in the United States Senate. Mr. Lusk, the Agent is delivering the work to subscribers and supplying all who desire it. The volume before us contains over seven hundred pages, is executed in the best style of typography, and contains an elegant likeness of the author. No work published in the United States has had so great a run in advance of its publication, and given such general satisfaction upon its appearance and delivery. It will go into every library in the country, for both friend and foe of the author will desire to have it, and will procure it. So far as we have had leisure to examine it, and knowing the author as we do, we are free to confess we are better pleased than we expected, and find the book less objectionable, and embodying fewer of the peculiarities of the author than we supposed it would or could. The price is $2.50 per volume, and can only be had from the Agent, Mr. W. H. Lusk.

Putnam.—We are in receipt of Putnam's Magazine, for June, and find it as usual, filled with original papers of merit. This number closes the 3d volume. It is one of the best works published in the English language, and has already acquired a world-wide fame. The names of the contributors are not published, thus leaving every article to stand upon its merits. Hereafter each number will be embellished with a portrait of one of the contributors. The first will be the author of the Poliphat Papers, whose features we are anxious to see. Terms—$3 per annum. Address Putnam & Co. 10 Park Place.

The clerk of the Edinburgh and New Lucy have placed us under obligations for late papers—the latter in advance of the mail. She passed up Monday morning, at 7 o'clock, having left St. Louis Saturday evening, and thus far made the fastest trip of the season.

LATER.—The "Polar Star," up this morning, furnished us with Tuesday's papers. She was a head of the Lucy's time!

COUNTERFEITS.—Two and five, of the Bank of Rochester, New York, good counterfeits, are in circulation. Take no bills on that bank.

PRIMARY MEETINGS.—The St. Louis Pilot calls primary meetings to bring out candidates, "Primary Humbug," "Primary Humbug" in this county. The Test or Anti-Test clique? Can the Banner give information?

IMPROVEMENT.—Before the expiration of the present year St. Louis will be connected with Louisville and Cincinnati, by Rail Road. The work is going ahead rapidly.

FUGITIVE SLAVE CASE.—The Boston fugitive slave case was decided in favor of the owner, and the fugitive was given into his custody. The city troops and the United States troops were called out, before whose bayonets the courage of the abolitionists oozed out, and no rescue was attempted.—The President telegraphed the Marshal to see that the laws were properly executed, and they were. Congress is talking about giving a pension to the widow of the Deputy Marshal who was murdered by the mob.

"TELL CHAPMAN TO CROW."—Mr. Chapman, editor of the Chanciere—the same who in 1840 was told to crow—offers himself as an independent candidate for Congress in the Indianapolis District, subject to the votes of the people on election day. On the Nebraska and Slave question, he says he stands on the platform with Houston and Benton.

Mr. Jacob Fisher, of Jonesboro, S. line county, returned from St. Louis, a few days since, and died very suddenly, of Cholera.

COOPER.—The whigs of Cooper county, recently held a convention and nominated R. C. Harrison and W. C. Ewing for the Legislature, and R. C. McCulloch for Sheriff. The opposition have made no nominations.

For the Times.

A Lie Nailed to the Counter—Mr. Bell Vindicated.

Mr. EORON.—On last Saturday Mr. Bell commenced the canvass by a speech of some two hours length, in the town of Westville. Quite a large turnout was present, and great attention was paid to Mr. Bell's speech, which, by the way, was one of his happiest efforts. He adverted to the charges against him of being a sectional candidate—that he had favored the removal of the county seat, &c., in a very happy and satisfactory manner. He said that against a man could such a charge be more unjustly alleged than against himself. At the time the effort was made to remove the county seat, he was a citizen of Keytesville, and did everything in his power to prevent such removal. That he never signed any petition, nor was there a man living who could say he favored it.

In regard to the Court of Common Pleas, he had signed a petition for such a court in Brunswick, but as the bill showed, it was of a limited jurisdiction. With regard, however, to this court, there was now no move in Brunswick upon the subject, and he supposed would not be. Be that as it may, if he was favored with a seat in the Legislature, he would be the representative of the people of Chariton county, and would countenance no move from any quarter which would have a sectional bearing, to the prejudice of other portions of the county. He was for Chariton county as it was.

He thought the effort to prejudice him in this respect was very unjust, and that it emanated from a source he had not expected. It came from those whom he had favored, and for whom every act of his life, while in the county, had been to build up. He had opposed the storm against Keytesville when it was raging in its wildest fury, and now to be accused of being against it, he thought exceedingly unkind.

He said it was true that he lived in Brunswick, but if that fact disqualified him from holding an office in the county, and that was to be made a test in this race, he thought that the prosperity of our county would soon fall into decay. He did not believe, however, that such narrow-hearted selfishness existed to a great extent in the county. He believed there was enough of the good and virtuous in the county to spurn and trample all such pusillanimous and petty efforts in the dust. He said he had lived in the county, and been somewhat of a public man with them, for years. His heart and his interests were all identified with Chariton, and he hoped that good men of all parties would rally around him, upon the standard of opposition to this sectional feeling, which was at work against him. His cause and his election would be a triumph over factions, and again place our county upon a higher and nobler platform—a platform that is wide enough and broad enough to give every man and every section of the county—but too narrow to hold the narrow-hearted and selfish feelings of sectional bickerings and strife.

The address of Mr. Bell was well received, and will tell on the first Monday in August. Men of all parties are for him, and determined to frown down the effort for sectional prejudice.

Mr. Herfford was there and also a speech but it was coldly received by him. His effort to cut off a part of Chariton to Howard, the people had not forgot, and no explanation would satisfy them. Cap. is a doomed man.

THE GREAT-ISO VERY OF THE AGE!

For Incontrovertible Evidence of the Infallible Efficacy and unparalleled Utility of WONDERFUL HAIR RESTORATIVE! A gentleman again, so far as the hair of the head is concerned. Read what follows.

PROFESSOR WOOD'S

It will give the bald-headed youthful looks, turn gray hair to its natural color, and remove all dandruff and disagreeable matter from the scalp. It also invigorates the Hair, makes it soft and glossy, as the ingredients act upon the roots of the same. It has been tested by scientific, as well as by men who stand high in public esteem, and has been found satisfactory.

Over 5,000 Bottles have been sold within the last three months, in the city of St. Louis and vicinity, alone, and over twice that NUMBER in the State of Kentucky, Indiana and Illinois. Of the immense number of letters and certificates which are voluntarily sent every day to the Proprietor, we would select a few, and present them here to the public's attention.

STATE OF ILLINOIS, CANFIELD, June 27, 1853.

I have used Prof. O. J. Wood's Hair Restorative, and have effected a wonderful effect. My hair was becoming, as I thought, permanently gray, but by the use of his "Restorative," it has resumed its original color, and I have no doubt permanent.

SIDNEY BREESE, Ex-Senator, U. S.

VINCENNES, Ind., June 15, 1853.

Prof. O. J. Wood—Dear Sir: As you are about to publish a book on the "Restorative," I will state, for whomsoever it may concern, that I have used and known others to use it. That I have for several years used it, and have seen it give a healthy, soft, and glossy appearance, and all this without discoloring either the hands which apply it, or the dress on which it drops. I would therefore recommend it to every one desirous of having a fine color and texture to hair.

WILSON KING.

St. Louis, Oct. 24, 1853.

Prof. O. J. Wood—Dear Sir: At your request, I will give you a statement of the effects of your restorative upon my hair. I commenced its use when my hair was quite gray, and I soon began to feel its effect in restoring the natural fluid to it; it immediately began to change to its native color, until it is entirely restored; and from carefully watching its effects, I am satisfied that it is not only doing so, but that it is doing so fully and according to directions, no lady will be disappointed. I therefore cheerfully recommend it to all my friends, and all who have use for such an article.

MRS. E. BEARDSLEY.

St. Louis, Sept. 20, 1853.

Dr. O. J. Wood—Sir: I have used nearly two bottles of your restorative, and have found its effects very satisfactory. It has entirely destroyed all dandruff from my head, and restored my hair to its original color, which had become quite gray.
